WRITING CENTER TUTOR TRAINING

EN 3243 OVERVIEW

This class is open to students at all levels and majors. It trains you to work one-on-one with other students to improve their writing. You'll learn about writing center history, theory, and practice through readings, reflective journals, observations, a research project, and more. You will also get real experience in the MSU Writing Center through an internship.

After completing this course, you will be eligible to apply for hourly work as a consultant in the university's writing center—a paying position that is great for building your resume!
